ABOUT JUSTICE ROWING

Justice High School is a socioeconomically and culturally diverse public high school in Fairfax County. Justice Rowing is 100% self-funded—it receives no funding from the Fairfax County Public Schools athletic budget and relies on fundraising for more than half of its operating budget. The annual Wreath, Poinsettia, and Coffee campaign is the team's flagship fundraiser. Along with donations, student crew registration fees, car washes, gift card sales, year-round coffee delivery, and other programs, this fundraiser pays for equipment, boathouse rental, transportation, coaches salaries, uniforms, and more.

Rowing is a great way to learn teamwork, leadership, perseverance, discipline, time management, and camaraderie. Of the sports teams at Justice High School, crew has a significant time commitment, yet its student-athletes achieve one of the highest team grade point averages.

The Rowing program has a more than 50-year history at Justice. The program has yielded championships at the state and national levels, and the 1968 team won the coveted Princess Elizabeth Challenge Cup race at the Henley Regatta in London. Your generous support helps to keep Justice Rowing competitive on the water.
