ABOUT JUSTICE ROWING

Justice High School is a Title 1 socioeconomically and culturally diverse public high school in Fairfax County.

Justice Rowing is 100% self-funded—it receives no funding from Fairfax

County Public Schools—and relies on fundraising for more than half of its budget.

The annual Wreath, Poinsettia, and Coffee campaign is the team's flagship fundraiser.

Along with donations, sponsorships, student crew registration fees, and car washes, this fundraiser pays for equipment, boathouse rental, transportation, coaches' salaries, uniforms, and more.

Rowing provides students an opportunity to learn teamwork, leadership, perseverance, discipline, camaraderie, and time management. Crew is a significant time commitment, and yet its student-athletes achieve one of the highest team grade point averages of all JHS sports teams.

Thanks to the support of the community, the JHS rowing team has been competing at the championship level at state and national competitions for more than 50 years.

THANK YOU! Your generous support helps keep Justice Rowing competitive on the water.
